

Nomination Statement for Nominating Committee – Tom Browne

My name is Tom Browne and I am an Assistant Dean in Undergraduate Programs and Services in the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences (CALS). I have been in this position for almost six years, and have responsibilities that include oversight of the Prospective Student Services program, with leadership regarding the development of recruitment and retention programs that target diversity. Previously, I served as an Academic Advisor in the UW Athletic Department for five years. I am interested in serving on ASEC because I value the opportunity to network and collaborate with colleagues on campus, and be familiar with issues that are important to various stakeholders on campus. I served three years on the CALS CASI, and found that time to be eye opening in appreciating the value and contributions of academic staff in our university. I would like to do everything in my ability to advocate and support the goals of the committee and to my colleagues.
