- Burden without additional protection

“Second, the process can be improved, primarily by recognizing that many procedural requirements are designed to address risks that are so unlikely, and so slight if they do occur, that it would be reasonable to dispense with them.” – K. Mayer, 2015

- Rules specific to Education not always accurately implemented

(b) Unless otherwise required by department or agency heads, research activities in which the only involvement of human subjects will be in one or more of the following categories are exempt from this policy:

(1) Research conducted in established or commonly accepted educational settings, involving normal educational practices, such as (i) research on regular and special education instructional strategies, or (ii) research on the effectiveness of or the comparison among instructional techniques, curricula, or classroom management methods.
