COMMUNITY RELATIONS AT UW-MADISON

UW-Madison strives to not only be a world-class university, but a friendly neighbor and community partner. Community Relations acts as its liaison. We listen to the community, provide greater access to UW-Madison's resources, and build relationships that benefit all of us.

What We Do

Community Relations

We work with communities and partners who collaborate with UW-Madison, serving on boards, councils and guiding special projects.

Government Relations

We maintain relationships with city and county government leaders and boards throughout the region.

Community Engagement

We connect UW faculty, staff, and students to community (and vice versa), collaborate on local events, and share university space, programming and resources.

A Place for Everyone

UW South Madison Partnership

Located in The Village at South Park, the UW South Madison Partnership is a UW-Madison initiative and collaborative space designed to meet the South Madison community's needs and build relationships. With classroom space, conference rooms, private meeting areas and university resources, the Partnership enables community members to engage with UW-Madison in a more accessible, meaningful way.
