NOTES:

increase     Districts that gained a senate seat. Such districts that are not scheduled for an election in spring 2012 must hold a special election to fill only the senate seat gained for the balance of the unexpired term(s) of other senator(s) in this district. Such districts that are shown as scheduled for an election in spring 2012 will fill all senate seats for three-year terms.

decrease     Districts that lost a senate seat. Such districts that are not scheduled for an election in spring 2012 must hold a special election to fill all senate seats for their district for the balances of the unexpired terms. Such districts that are shown as scheduled for an election in spring 2012 will fill all senate seats for three-year terms.

new            Cell and Regenerative Biology, Dance, and Neuroscience are new districts created since the last reapportionment.

change        Library and Information Studies is no longer a joint district with the General Library System, which no longer has faculty.

The departments of anatomy, pharmacology and physiology dissolved subsequent to the last reapportionment.
